
Rabbit and the lion
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Once upon time there was a huge lion in the jungle.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

He hunted animals indiscriminately for his food.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

The animals lived in fear of being hunted by the lion.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

One day they all went to lion's cage ...
Majesty you have right of your life. But if you kill us indiscriminetly, none of us will live. How will you live in that case.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

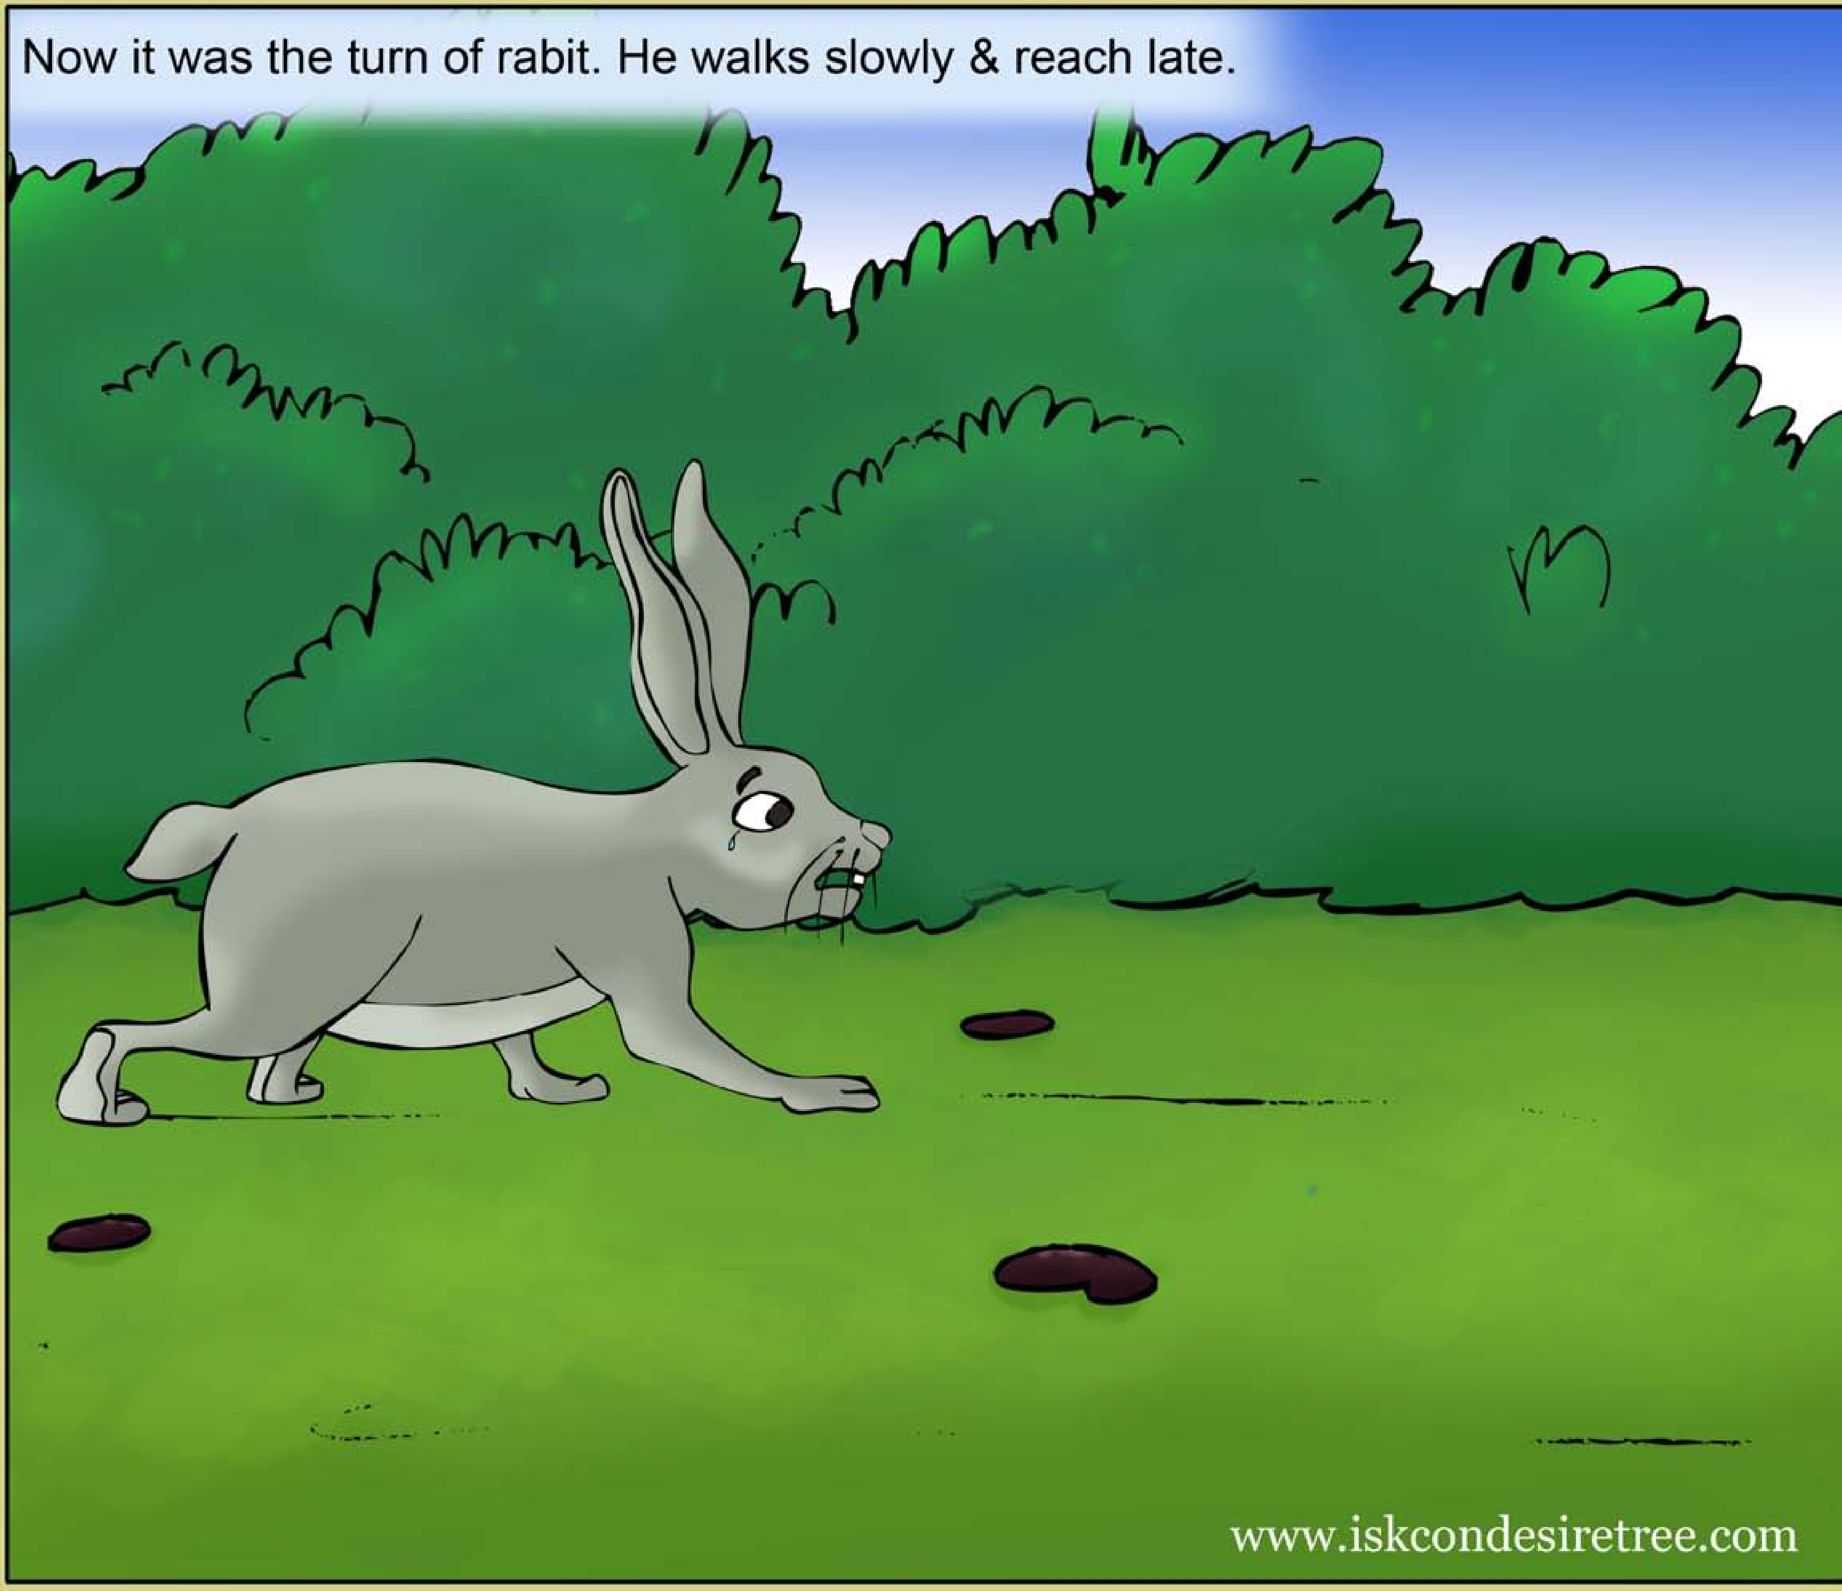

www.iskcondesiretree.com

King we will send you one healthy animal every morning. You can eat it. In this way, you can save us for future.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

The lion was happy with the idea.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

From that day, stag, bull, deer and other animals were sent daily to the lion.
?
?
?
?
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Now it was the turn of rabit. He walks slowly & reach late.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

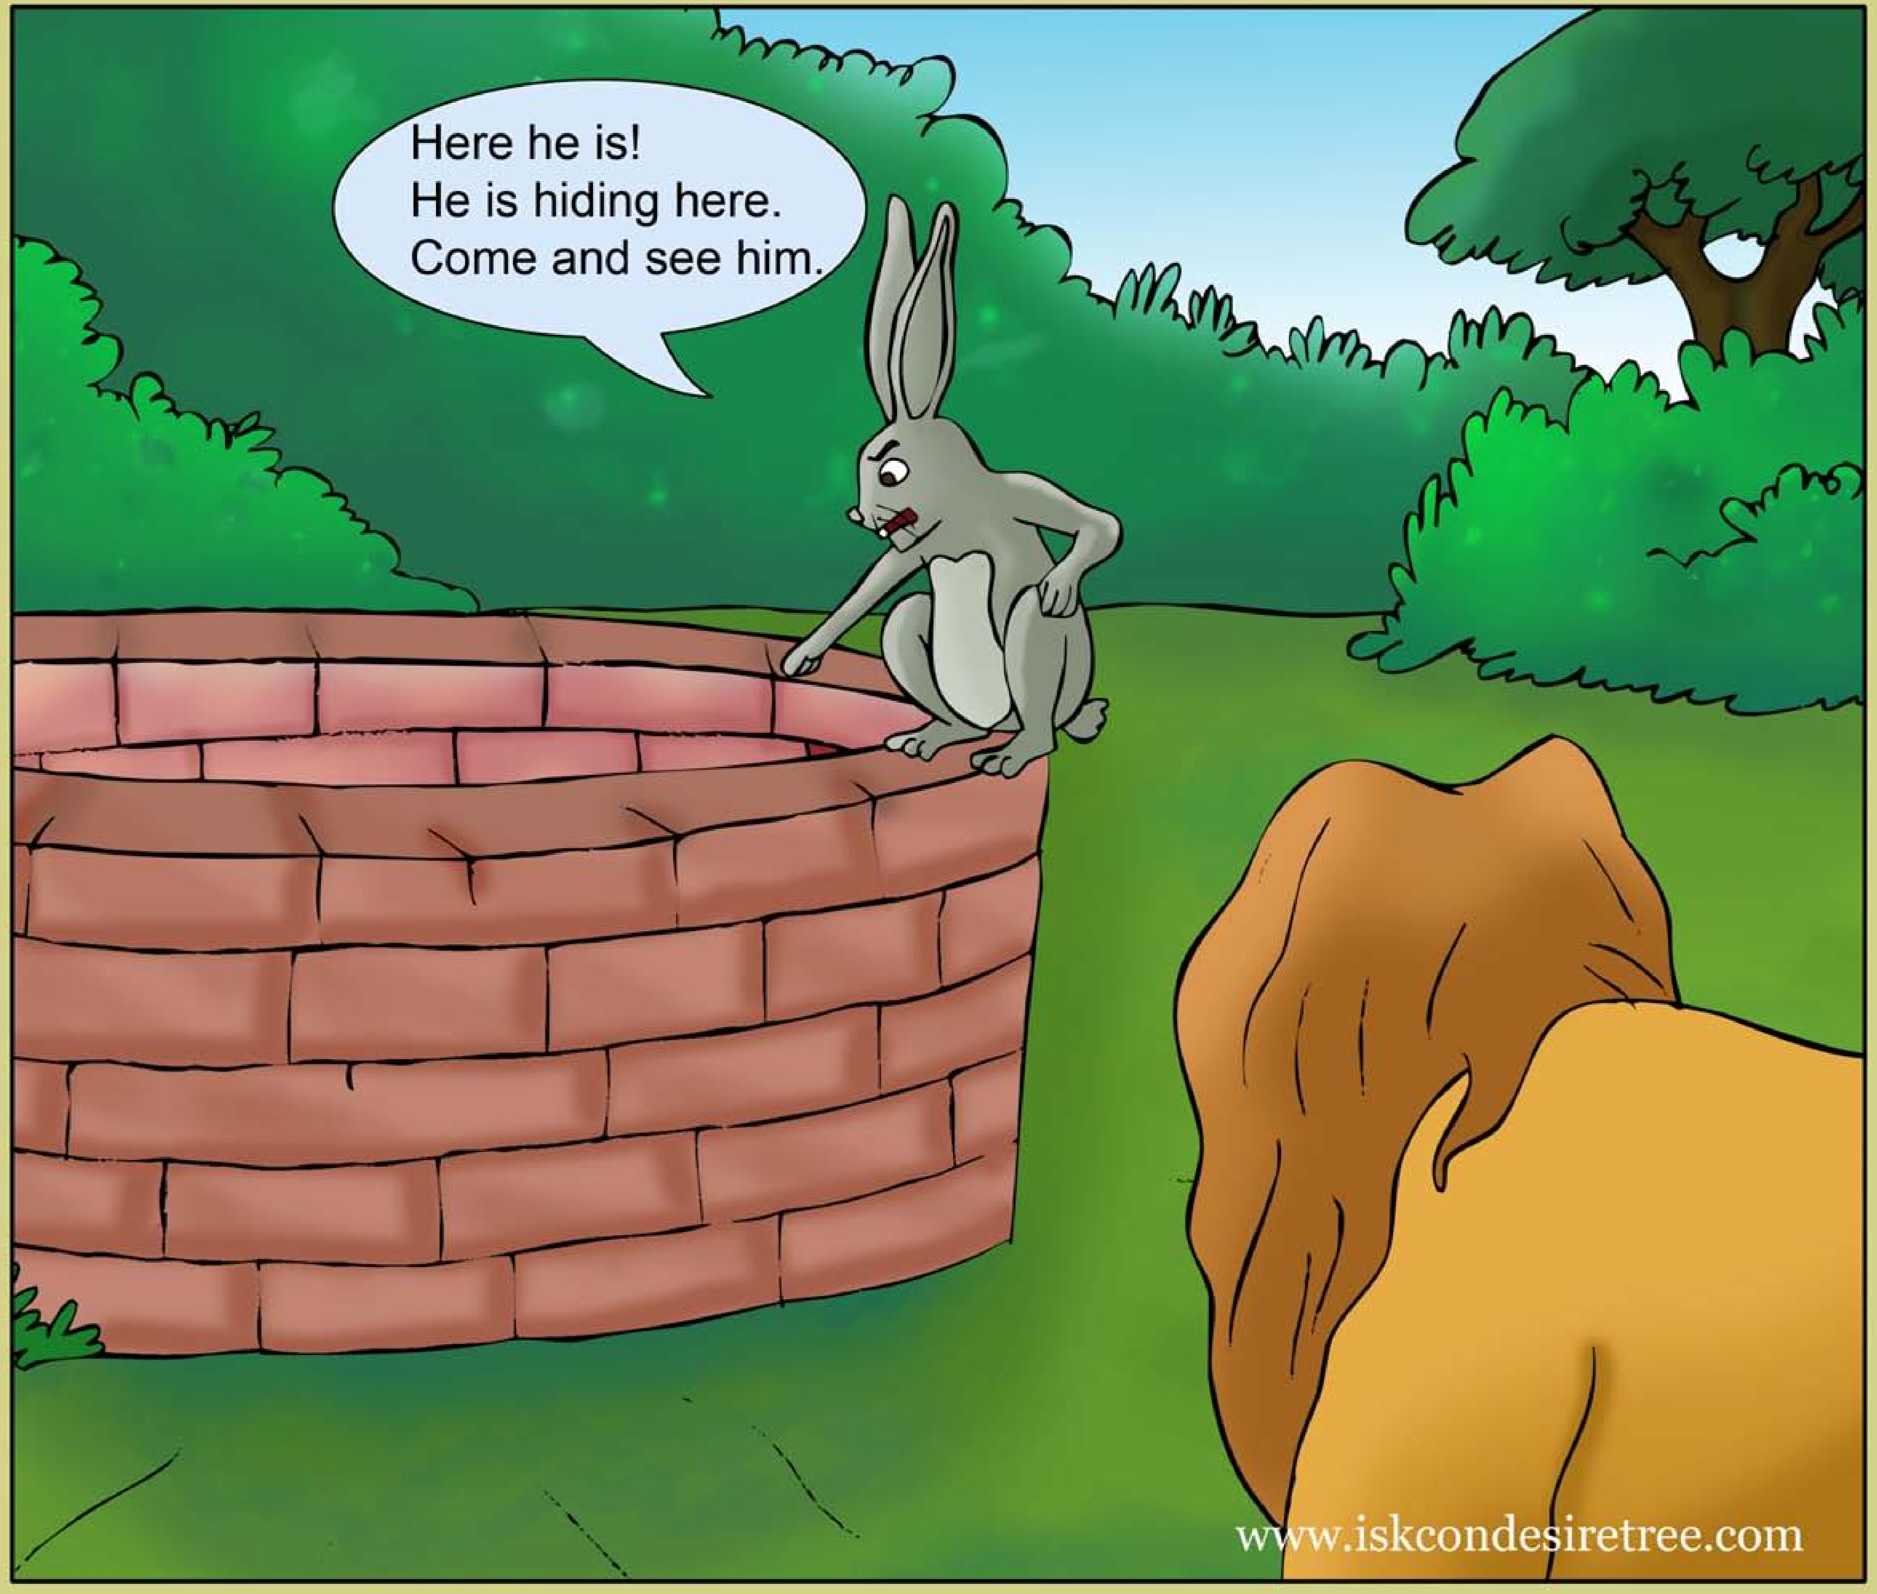

Lion was very hungry. He said angrily...
I will kill all animals today.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Oh king! We were six rabbits for your whole meal but on the way five will eaten away by another lion.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Who dares me? I am the king of jungle. Take me to him.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Come with me king.
The rabbit took the lion
www.iskcondesiretree.com

Here he is!
He is hiding here.
Come and see him.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

The lion saw his own reflection...
www.iskcondesiretree.com

In a feat of anger, he jumped into the well to kill not realising that it was non other than his own reflection.
www.iskcondesiretree.com

...and the lion drowned to death.
Moral: Anger blinds us. Don't let others provoke you.
www.iskcondesiretree.com